ACTION ALERT

The current rainy weather pattern is scheduled to turn to a more wintry mix this afternoon with sleet, snow showers and flurries. The more active precipitation is planned to exit the area by 4-5pm and snow stubborn flurries to continue into the evening. Current air temperatures are forecasted to drop below freezing between 9-11pm, even with the warmer ground temperatures and some gusty winds to help, there is a risk that ground conditions can turn icy along with the potential of standing water/puddles freezing up; due to this risk we will be triggering deicing services.

Our crews will proactively service all VIP Red Alert properties to maintain and keep a safe environment. If you are in need of any snow related service issues please call our 24 hour snow emergency number at 847-344-1027.

We hope everyone has a safe and fantastic New Year!
