

STORM SUMMARY 1-10-18

Air temperatures were in the mid 30's and pavement temperatures were running around 32 degrees at 4am. Sub surface temperatures were still below freezing at this time which made for a dangerous situation for all our properties that are 24 hour or opening before 8am. Many surfaces began to really freeze up from the moisture we received on the 9th around 5am. This flash freezing required an immediate application of salt to all pavement and sidewalks surfaces for our zero tolerance customers. Once past the 8am hour, the air, ground and sub surface temps all rose above freezing and the safety concerns diminished.
